CURED OF OUR DELUSIONS

The world wasn't seeing things our way.
We came to Golden Gate to find
What we had to do
To get it to change its mind.

A person's status was used to
Determine where they would be;
Whether they would win or lose.
There was no justice, you see.

They had advertised the "ambiance"
Like it was Palm Springs.
But "should I call an ambulance?"
Was what it seemed to be.

The student body was "diverse"
Though each was not really so different.
There was definitely a "type"
Regardless of our sexual preference.

If not upon admission,
Another kind of institution
Would have had us quickly labeled
With just a little observation.

"Ego-centric in excess with
Illusions of grandeur.
They each are trying to be
Someone other than who they are."

"Prone to manic-depression
With a basic sense of inadequacy.
Probably not dangerous, but
Refuses to accept reality."

Such a willing bunch of patients,
The dream of a treatment center,
All very likely to succeed
If we didn't kill each other.

Reagan was in office
Trying to erace the last 20 years.
He wanted to get rid of
The coloreds and queers.

The trickle-down theory
Lead to unemployment deplorable.
They gave the people cheese
That was no longer storable.

As people cried to end the nuclear race,
Reagan had an idea simply brilliant!
The girls would start loving the guys again
If they were off with a war to win.

Sexual freedom was over unless
We wanted an incurable disease.
Our basic morality hadn't done it,
But we were re-repressed by herpes.

The Equal Rights Amendment didn't pass.
The Moral Majority fought to guarantee
That good girls stayed at home
Right where they ought to be.

Reflecting the society at large, even
The school was in an identity crisis.
The bar pass rate was going down,
But Golden Gate kept raising its prices.

Although they kept raising tuition,
We borrowed as much as we could.
If we could just keep paying three years,
The prognosis was good.

There were no excuses.
We made the grades or we didn't.
There on time with our talent
Our weaknesses also couldn't be hidden.

Our families weren't allowed to distract us.
After all, we were doing this for them!
But some spouses and kids got out of the way
Never to return again.

Just how bad did we want success;
What price were we going to pay?
And were we going through these hoops
For a future that would always be this way?

The market for lawyers was glutted.
We could see we weren't so unique.
God only knew what we'd have to do
To really be able to compete.

Daring not to think we've bought a bill of goods
After we've swallowed the bait,
Our first job may have to be
Suing Golden Gate.

Unless the backlash brings a revolution and
We can all start being radical again,
We'd better get straight and to a safe place
Before the payback on the loans begins.

Like the reasonable, prudent person
Applying principles learned in class,
We don't care about nothing now
But covering our own ass.
